Joint actions for improving local rescue fire services to protect forests and settlements in EE-RU border area

LOCAL FIRE ER126

Summary of the Project

Project will contribute to reduction of the number of uncontrolled forest fires, as well as minimization of the damage caused by fires to the population and nature in border areas. Measures for the prevention and localization of seasonal fires will be improved.

Project foresees a complex of the particular improvements of the small municipal infrastructure for state rescue services and local volunteer rescue teams to prevent or localize the uncontrolled fires in the woods and land territories around the settlements and recreation areas.

Numerous protection actions including land works in the forests, reconstruction of fire suppression ponds, reduction of exits to forests, purchase of uniforms and small fire-fighting equipment for volunteer fire brigades, installation of prohibiting signs and others will be carried out.

Also volunteer rescue team and public fire inspectors' methods will be developed during the project lifetime.
